16303 Stinson Cove

A timeless custom home on Lake Norman

Front elevation captured from the video walkthrough

Built nearly 15 years ago, the Stinson home remains as beautiful and impressive today as when it was new. Set on the water at Lake Norman and spanning nearly 7,500 square feet, this custom residence pairs generous spaces with enduring design and exceptional craftsmanship.

The home features a wonderful wine room and a detached suite above the garage, offering flexibility for a private office, rental unit, or age-in-place living. Throughout, the quality is unmistakable in the finely finished trim, substantial door casings, elegant crown molding, and the beams that bring character to the kitchen.

I had the pleasure of calling this home mine for 12 years. Its thoughtful details and remarkable level of finish continue to stand out, and the home shows beautifully even today.
